Colored Leaves

for solo horn

by Pamela J. Marshall

1. Crisp and Cool
2. Aria - Whistling Wind

Notes

When I wrote Colored Leaves, I was thinking about all the virtuosic unaccompanied literature that usually ended on a screaming high C, sometimes higher. Since I play the horn, but don't really have a strong high C, I wanted to provide a musically interesting alternative for horn players that didn't emphasize the high register. Although difficult, Colored Leaves avoids this gesture, making the piece suitable for players who specialize in low horn.

The coloristic effects include hand glissandi, stopped, half-stopped, and muted passages. In the beginning of Whistling Wind, the player can choose between using the hand or the mute to achieve a gentle, distant sound. Later in Whistling Wind, I indulge in a little tone-painting when the fast notes scurry upward scherzando-style, like leaves twirling in the wind.

Autumn is a particularly beautiful season here in New England and the music of Colored Leaves tries to reflect that variety of light and mood that I feel during the season.

The musical score consists of ten staves of music. The first staff begins with a treble clef, a key signature of one flat, and a time signature of 0 (unmetered). It features a five-measure phrase marked with a bracket and the number '5'. The second staff continues the melody with various time signatures including 0, 4/4, and 0. The third staff starts with a 4/4 time signature, followed by 0, and then 6/8. It includes the instruction 'ritard.' and '(gliss. with hand and lip)'. The fourth staff begins with a 1 (unmetered) time signature and a dynamic marking of p. The fifth staff is in 4/4 time, marked 'accelerando' and f. The sixth staff starts with a 6/8 time signature, then changes to 4/4, marked 'a tempo' and ff. The seventh staff is in 3/4 time, marked 'ritard.', mp, and pp. The eighth staff is in 4/4 time, marked p. The score includes various musical notations such as slurs, ties, and dynamic markings.

Barlines in unmetered sections indicate phrasing only.

*A time signature of 0 indicates an unmetered section.

An accidental in unmetered sections applies only to its note and immediate repetitions.

The musical score consists of six staves of music. The first staff begins with a treble clef and a key signature of one flat. It features a melodic line with a long slur over the first six notes, followed by a rest and then a final note. The second staff continues the melodic line with various note values and slurs. The third staff starts with a dynamic marking of f (forte) and includes a slur over the first four notes. The fourth staff begins with a dynamic marking of mf (mezzo-forte) and contains several measures of music with slurs. The fifth staff starts with a dynamic marking of mp (mezzo-piano) and includes a slur over the first four notes, followed by a dynamic marking of pp (pianissimo) for the final note. The sixth staff continues the melodic line and ends with a five-fingered scale-like passage marked with a '5' above the notes.
